NOTICE

The most profitable plan for operating in stocks is that of uniting typical of various sums by combining or pooling the orders of thousands the Potter Committee to examino the cipher business, and that he proposes to vindoate himself. In the presence of this gigantic task, even the efforts of San Francisco policement to be honest pale into insignificance.

An Excring Accident.—This morning the engineer of the Consolidated mine started the engine that is used for drawing wood and supplies from the main railroad track up an incline of 45 degrees to the hoisting works, and left it running with the cable attached to a car of wood, expecting, no doubt, to get back in time to stop it when the car reached the top. Unfortunately he forgot all about it, and the car was DIOGICOS. The price at which the purchase from Fortughi was wade, as originally announced, was three millions of dollars. This would seem a pretty round sum for a more herbor bay; but the possession of that Bay gives Great Britain a commanding position for her fast-growing empire in that part of the world, a station for her shipping and a position whence intercourse and trade may be carried on with the people. In a temperate latitude and convenient to her other South African possessions, it would, probably, prove of the utmost importance to her growing empire. With that footbold, she became virtually master of Sofala, a territory stretching along the border of the Continent and the Mozambique Channel.

SERVANTS DESERTED.

The Memphis Avalanche about ten days ago said: The Howard Association has nearly $200,000 in hand; the Mayor has about $80,000; the Citizens' Relief Committee has about $50,000-a grand total of $870,000. The sum of money is amply sufficient this season 2,392 quait to San Franto feed the destitute people of Memphis and the surrounding country until frost comes, if a few perquisites are cut down. A most serious drain on the commissary is the supply of the wants of rich people. These well-to-do citizens fled and left their houses in charge of black house owners left neither money nor provisions for the support of their help. The charity of the world has been called upon to keep our people from starvation. Men worth hundreds of thousands of dollars have left their property in charge of blacks, and never provided a dollar for their support. And yet. if the Citizens' Relief Committee out her marriage with Duc de Daiche. off the supplies from these servants of rich men, what in God's name will they do? They faithfully guard the property of their employers. If their amployers do not feed them the Relief Committee must do it. There is no alternative. The Committee cannot and will not see them starve. The 'old man' begins to think there will be no day of reckoning. The white men standing here to-day are too few in number. Their reckoning won't count when the boys come back home.

A Reno Delegate.

700 N S Neva in 1th 150 8000 N Bonanza, 15 136 1 60

The Truck e Republican says that immediately after the burning of Chinatown, and while the citizens were preventing the Chinese from rebuilding, an enterprising man from Reno commenced putting up a house on one of the Chinese lots. He publicly avowed his intention of building and renting to the Chinese. This he did in the hearing of several of the citizens. Monday evening's mass meeting was a determined and emphatic against ta. Chinese and against Chinese sympathizers, that the gentleman from Reno hauled in his horns, and publicly asserted that no Chinaman should ever occupy his house. Reno removed her Chinatown, and the splended pavilion now overlooks the abandoned site. Is it not slightly unfair that a Renoite should be the only one Caucassian race, whose avarice and greed should cause him to build houses for Chinamen in Truckee's Chinatown?

This is one side of the story and of course is good until the other is told. The "enterprising Renoite" referred to is John J. Quinn. We called upon him last night and heard his side of the story. He owns a very desirable lot in the late Truckee Chinatown, and had a house upon it up to the time of the tire, when it was destroyed with the rest. Receiving an intimation there was a flaw in the title he determined immediately to build a house to hold the land, as it was likely to become valuable. He proceeded to do so, but did not intend to let it to Chinamon unless others did He attended the meeting, of which an account is given elsewhere, and an nonneed his determination to hold the land against a conspiracy be be lieved existed to take it from him, but to abide by the decision of the citizens' meeting. He was applauded, while those who threatened to violently destroy both Quinn and his home were opposed. Quinn believes he is right, and proposes to protect his property. The fling at Reno is entirely uncalled for.
